IGNITED PASSION FROM THIS BLACK WOMAN

Las Vegas 2021: New release by Author Candace Willrich. "Colored Poetry: From a Black Woman" provides a collection of poetry for this colored moment in US history. The 2020 global protests ignited passion in people across the world as they openly protested, marched, and celebrated their freedom of expression, freedom of speech, and the demand for civil liberties and rights for all. Humanity is the focus of this collection to ensure that all people of color are protected by the constitution and due process of law. According to the author, "Our civil rights are instantaneous to any emerging situation and during the violation of our civil liberties. The constitution is quickly applied for our protection." The author is not new to civil liberty issues. She reveals that her civil liberties were grossly violated for well over 20 years. She was trafficked and used as a free resource by individuals, entities, and the government. Despite these difficulties, Candace has shown that perseverance, resilience, and faith in God will win every time. Let's celebrate with Willrich.

ALLOWING GOD TO BE A MULTIPLIER

The only words that can express my joy, at this moment, are "Glory Hallelujah, since I've laid my burdens down." The good Lord truly blessed me as I triumphed over many years of challenges, difficulties, human rights violations, and abuse. My first Christian book titled "Coefficientency with your Christianity," an inspirational book of prose and poetry that expresses my spirituality and my deep, deep gratitude to my Lord, my Savior, is available on Amazon Kindle. "Coefficientency with your Christianity" promotes the necessity of spirituality and a faith-based belief system. Having these strong pillars in our lives will provide us with an abundance of strength, resilience, and perseverance for any situation, and will also strengthen and enhance our professional and personal lives. Prayers, praise, and worship are emphasized and reflected in the many poems and prayers presented in this book. I also present and encourage the use of the "Willrich Coefficientency Model," a Christian growth methodology that helps our spirituality flourish. Also, this model helps believers remain steadfast in their faith and belief.

Please consider purchasing this book for yourself, family, friends, and members of your church. I am sure you will truly enjoy reading and reciting this poetry.

PIECES FROM A FRAGMENTED VIEW

a poetry collection from a human trafficking survivor

Las Vegas 2022: New release by Author Candace Willrich. “I Stood as a Poet: overcoming human trafficking abuse” is a poetry collection that depicts just pieces of the author’s experiences as a human trafficking victim. Over the past twenty years in Texas and Nevada, assailants violently battered her with radio waves and electricity. A substantial amount hit at the metal implants in her body. No one explained to her what was happening – no one. During this period, her valuable intellectual property was raided. Candace was forced to stand alone and fight for her human rights. This assault occurred across four White House administrations. But, when she became a poet, she started standing for her civil liberties – openly. Her poetry became her voice! This author is indeed extraordinary for surviving this manner of assault and exploitation. She survived despite this brutality. Her faith in God saved her life! She stood as a poet. Please purchase her book from amazon and read this moving poetry.
